

bergamini.org - online!

Contributed by Daniel A. Bergamini
Tuesday, 06 September 2005
Last Updated Friday, 27 July 2007

Anyone wanting a `firstname@bergamini.org` email address, `http://firstname.bergamini.org` web space or redirect to a remote page, let me know and we can get it worked out.

Last week I was able to procure `bergamini.org`, finally. Back, oh 13 years or so when I got on this internet thing I registered my first domain. I didn't think it would ever be cool to have your own name registered, so I didn't bother. I'm here to say I was wrong, but in my defense I was also poor and wanted to stay somewhat anonymous.

As of a few years ago I noticed `bergamini.com`, `.org` and `.net` were all taken. I was able to get these `.cc` and `.us` domains but it's just not the same. At the time I contacted the owner of `bergamini.com` who wanted something outrageous like $3,000 USD for the domain. Yeah I'll wait and hope you get sick of reregistering with no profit.

Anyway, someone decided to not reregister `bergamini.org` and I snatched it up. Right now `bergamini.cc` is the primary and `.us` and `.org` are just forwarded to here, but I will shortly make `bergamini.org` the primary. Score one for the home team.